

Red comunitaria de análisis conductual aplicado (ABA) y tratamiento basado en las relaciones, la diferencia individual y el desarrollo (DIR) de Wellpoint

Lo conectamos con los servicios comunitarios de ABA/DIR en New Jersey

Análisis conductual aplicado (ABA)

El ABA es un enfoque individualizado, positivo y basado en las habilidades para la comprensión y la mejora de la conducta y la calidad de vida de las personas. Ofrece una amplia variedad de técnicas para enseñar nuevas habilidades (p. ej., comunicación, interacción social, habilidades para la vida diaria), disminuir las conductas problemáticas a través de una comunicación más funcional y ayudar a las personas a usar sus nuevas habilidades en diferentes situaciones. En el tratamiento con ABA, un analista de la conducta desglosa habilidades complejas en partes más pequeñas y alienta a una persona con autismo a practicar y combinar esas partes hasta que domina la habilidad general.

Tratamiento basado en las relaciones, la diferencia individual y el desarrollo (DIR)

El tratamiento del autismo se enfoca en el análisis, el diseño, la implementación y la evaluación de modificaciones sociales y otras modificaciones del entorno para producir cambios significativos en la conducta humana. El DIR proporciona una base para la comprensión del desarrollo humano y el rol crítico del desarrollo socioemocional. El tratamiento DIR puede ayudar a aumentar las habilidades de comunicación y mejorar la atención, la concentración, las habilidades sociales y la memoria. Junto con otros tratamientos para el autismo, puede mejorar el rendimiento académico y disminuir las conductas problemáticas.
